

Anand Prasad is a corporate/commercial lawyer with more than 3 decades years of experience representing both domestic and international clients on a variety of legal and commercial issues within and outside India.

Anand was a co-founder of Trilegal, one of India's leading full-service law firms and served on the firm's management committee from 2012 until 2016. Anand transitioned from Trilegal to set up a social and political organisation in 2017 to promote liberal values and thought in Indian politics, which he continues to promote. Anand returned to fulltime private practice in 2019 and along with former colleagues from Trilegal, established AP & Partners with the objective of providing strategic support to senior management and delivering high quality, focused advocacy to businesses faced with complex and challenging situations.

Anand has been a client nominee on the boards of various companies in India and specializes in assisting with difficult corporate, commercial, governance and compliance situations. He also provides advisory and structuring support to businesses on investment, M&A and financing transactions. He has a good understanding of evolving government policy and has advised clients on cross-border transactions, establishing joint ventures, entry strategies, investment structures, competition law and employment issues.

In addition, Anand represents clients in arbitrations and in various courts and tribunals in matters pertaining to high value disputes which arise in relation to cross-border investments, bankruptcy, regulatory issues and corporate fraud and corruption situations.

Anand has been cited in independent legal directories such as Legal 500 and Chambers & Partners as a market leader for corporate and commercial laws in India for well over a decade.
